folktales and fairy tales are living stories as part of the oral tradition they change and evolve as they are retold from generation to generation in the last thirty years however revision has become an art form of its own with tales intentionally revised to achieve humorous effect send political messages add different cultural or regional elements try out new narrative voices and more these revisions take all forms from short stories to novel length narratives to poems plays musicals films and advertisements the resulting tales paint the tales from myriad perspectives using the broad palette of human creativity this study examines folktale revisions from many angles drawing on examples primarily from revisions of western european traditional tales such as those of the grimm brothers and charles perrault also discussed are new folktales that combine traditional storylines with commentary on modern life the conclusion considers how revisionists poke fun at and struggle to understand stories that sometimes made little sense to start with

when fairy tales moved from workrooms taverns and the fireside into the nursery they not only lost much of their irreverent earthy humor but were also deprived of their contestatory stance to official culture children s literature maria tatar maintains has always been more intent on producing docile minds than playful bodies from its inception it has openly endorsed a productive discipline that condemns idleness and disobedience along with most forms of social resistance volume two explores the way a wide range of classic princess tales written by marginalized writers rapunzel and snow white with their pale skin or long ropes of golden hair are particularly popular vehicles for exploring and challenging racialized constructions of beauty marriage is the traditional vehicle of a happy ending in princess tales so marginalized responses to these tales also inherently respond to the doubly colonized position of women in the anglophone world the institution of marriage typically exposes the institutional oppression of colonized women authors include charles chesnutt jessie fauset julia kavanaugh george edwards some of the unpublished manuscripts of jewish australian author joseph jacobs and the earliest work of sinèad de valera as well as fin de siècle illustrators such as harry clarke and collected oral tales
