there s simply no limit to the sins people will commit for a tasty meal the japanese are notorious for their trade in bluefin tuna while newlyweds in bangkok shanghai and singapore devour a gelatinous soup made from poached abalone and fins hacked from living sharks but surely there s no need for you to feel bad about ordering sea bass in a london restaurant unless of course you consider that you may well be enjoying one of the very last members of the species in dead seas we follow acclaimed journalist taras grescoe on a year long round the world trip as he eats his way from the top to the bottom of the food chain with one purpose in mind to find out whether he can continue to eat such delicacies in good conscience as well as painting a vivid and often hilarious picture of the fascinating people taras encounters dead seas explores the impact we are having on sea life by overfishing and draws our attention to some of the ethical choices we can make at a time when many of the fish we take for granted are on the verge of extinction we need to face the fact that very soon jellyfish sandwiches may be all that is left for us to eat the global spread of antimicrobial resistant pathogenic bacteria is a continuing challenge to the health care of humans and domesticated animals with no new agents on the horizon it is imperative to use antimicrobial agents wisely to preserve their future efficacy led by editors stefan schwarz lina maria cavaco and jianzhong shen with frank møller aarestrup an international team of experts in antimicrobial resistance of livestock and companion animals has created this valuable reference for veterinary students and practitioners as well as researchers and decision makers interested in understanding and preventing antimicrobial resistance
