alexander hamilton and thomas jefferson laid the foundations for today s political debates between democrats and republicans hamilton believed that freedom must be married with a strong central government and especially an energetic president while jefferson believed freedom derived from local civic virtues throughout history democrats and republicans have chosen sides in this eternal debate and sometimes even changed sides today those debates have become sharper and more polarized as the two parties square off on major issues such as healthcare taxes regulation the role of the federal government and what discretion should be given to local authorities the debate can be loud and shrill even as the public yearns for some accommodation between these two schools of thought people may generally desire an active government to deal with acute problems but localism still has widespread appeal and political dysfunction often results when these outcomes are presented as polar opposites and elections are reduced to zero sum contests social media adds to the polarization as americans gravitate to websites that often ratify their preexisting points of view the parties struggle to function in this environment as they try to adapt to the political realities of the social media age and the trump era the advisory committee on fisheries research acfr working party on status and trends of fisheries met in rome to consider how fishery status and trends reporting could be improved in terms of quality scope and timeliness and better coordinated to allow a more systematic synthesis of information from national to regional and global levels owing to the importance of status and trends reports and the scrutiny they receive the working party recommended that the global system of status and trends reporting be advanced by increasing completeness by including some fisheries and fishery resources that are currently under represented expanding the scope of current reports that are primarily on catch and fishery resource information to include other dimensions of fisheries and enhancing quality assurance and credibility
